

PHAROS Conference 2019: the multi-messenger physics and astrophysics of neutron stars

Contribution ID : 19

Type : not specified

Pulsar glitches

In this talk I will summarize our current understanding of pulsar glitches based on analyses of recent data. Aspects such as glitch size distributions, the time series of glitches, glitch rates, and glitch activity will be reviewed; and some selected particular cases will be discussed.

Primary author(s) : Dr ESPINOZA, Cristobal (Universidad de Santiago de Chile)

Presenter(s) : Dr ESPINOZA, Cristobal (Universidad de Santiago de Chile)